Dear Dad,

I know you are unhappy about the poor grades on my tests this semester. I'm sorry for that. I promise I will study harder next time. But Dad, please, could I study at home by myself? I don't want to go to the cram school any more. I don't think it can help me. I promise I won't spend so much time watching TV and playing computer games. I'll do my homework every day and use my time well to preview and review every lesson.

Let me try, Dad. I'm sure I'll do better.

Kelly is very special student in my class. Her father is an American, and her mother is a Chinese from Hong Kong. Kelly was born in New York and finished elementary school there. Then the family decided to move to Taiwan because Kelly's father found a new job in Taipei. Kelly could speak only English, but her parents did not send her to a special school for foreign children. They wanted her to study in a regular junior high school and to make friends with the local students.

Kelly has to work very hard at school. English is easy for her, of course. Math is OK, too. But Chinese and History are big headaches for her because she cannot read the books in Chinese. She often comes to me, her English teacher, to ask questions about Chinese and History. She is trying very hard, and I believe she will do well in Taiwan.

Welcome to your favorite radio show, "Music Wonder land"! March 21 will be the 300th birthday of Bach, the Father of Music. So this month we are going to have several special programs on this great man of music.

Johann Sebastian Bach was born in Germany in 1685. During his lifetime, Bach wrote a lot of music for the church and for his students, but he himself did not keep his own works carefully. Luckily, his second wife copied them and saved them for him. So today we can still remember Bach through his music.

Bach married twice in his life and had 20 children altogether. He was a man who loved his family very much. When his first wife planned to learn the piano, he wrote two music books for her. And he also wrote music for one of his daughters to tell her that too much coffee was bad for her health. I am now going to play a song for you from this interesting Coffee Cantata. And we will hear more about Bach after the song.

(D) 43. So far, what is this radio show mainly about?

- (A) The Bach family history.
- (B) Bach's great church music.
- (C) Ways to learn Bach's music.
- (D) Stories about Bach and his music.

(A) 44. Why is Bach's second wife important to his music?

- (A) She helped Bach keep his works.
- (B) Many of Bach's works were written for her.
- (C) She gave Bach a lot of good ideas about music.
- (D) Her money helped Bach concentrate on writing music.

(C) 45. Why did Bach write the Coffee Cantata?

- (A) To celebrate his birthday.
- (B) To show people his love of coffee.
- (C) To tell his child not to drink so much coffee.
- (D) To create a new kind of music for the church.
